

5 Things You Should Do This Thanksgiving on Social Media

Thanksgiving is a tradition of family gatherings and festive feasts, but with the onslaught of social media impinging our lives and with volumes such as 500 years of YouTube videos are watched every day, Twitter users send 400M tweets daily, and 850 million users are on Facebook every month, it's more than likely you will post during Thanksgiving so you might as well follow Tracy's Thank Formula and make a difference.

According to Tracy Repchuk - International Best Selling author of 31 Days to Millionaire Marketing Miracles, "Technology is here and social media dominates our lives, so since we can control what goes out today, let's make it a day of world-wide thanks."

Tracy's Thank Formula to Create a Thankful Thanksgiving:

Tweet what you are grateful for and ask others to retweet with hashtag #thanks

Help promote a cause or charity and do a full post to spread their message

Ask someone how you can help them - advice, referral, connection

Notify your followers that you appreciate having them in your life

Keep it up all year round - be grateful, help, ask, and notify friends and followers you appreciate them. It only takes a few minutes a month and if we all did it, imagine the possibilities for helping to make the world a better place.
